A DECIDED SENSATION

Caused by the Withdrawal o Tucker's Appointment.

THE UNSAVORY WAR RECORD Of the West Virginian, and His Al leged Connection With the Murder of Lincoln, the Reason.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 29 .- Nothister, last October, has caused so decided a sensation as the withdrawal of the appointment of Gen. Lew Wallace and Beverly Tucker as special envoys to Wallace to be Reappointed.

The reason for the sudden withdrawal is entirely apart from any action or recommendation of Mr. Blaine. It is understood that the withdrawal was made by the President without consulting Mr. Blaine, and, it is reported, that when the latter called at the White House yesterdiscovered almost too a position on the Bureau of Printing and Engraving.

It is learned that Mr. S. P. McCormick, of Preston County, who was a prominent aspirant for the Collectorship in the En number of plots, and that he had been seen in Montreal with Booth, Herold and Payne. John A. Bingham, in his speech for the prosecution, said: "That the rebel chief, Jefferson Davis, sanctioned these crimes, committed and attempted through the instrumentality of his accredited agents in Canada—Thompson, Tacker, Clay, Sanders, Cleary, &c—upon the persons and property of the people of the North there is positive proof on your record."

Mr. Tucker himself attributes the President's hasty action to what he calls the "interference" of Gen. H. V. Boynton, the well-known Washington correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial Gazette, who is said to have shown up Colonel Tucker's war record. Mr. Tucker said that General Boynton's interference was the only ground upon which the President could base the hurried with-President could base the hurried withdrawal of the appointments made on secretary Blaine's recommendation. Mr. Tucker and Mr. Blaine are intimate bosom friends, and the former said he would not have accepted such an important appointment from any other man than the present Secretary of State. General Wallace was seen and asked in he had any objections to serve with Mr. Tucker, and if his objections had anything to do with causing the President's sudden drawback. "I have known Mr. Tucker intimately for many years," said the General. "I know him to be socially one of the pleasantest men in sau ne ceneral. "I know him to be socially one of the pleasantest men in the world, and it would afford me pleasure at any time to go in connection with him to any public service or any work that might be of benefit to the country."

Tucker is about 70 years of age, and is so gouty that his locomotion is tedious. His is in poor circumstances, and this fact is supposed to have influenced Mr.
Blaine in naming him. Tucker was Consul at Liverpool during Buchanan's administration, and stayed in England some time after he was superseded. He if yes at Berkeley Springs, W. Va., but spends much time in Washington. His brother is J. Randolph Tucker, of Virginia, and his son is a clergyman at Norfolk.

A STRIKE AT BLAINE, Some of the comments of the press on the subject are interesting. The Baltimore Sun (Dem.) says:

The query will very naturally be suggested why the loyal and patriotic individuals whose souls now recoil at the idea of a Republican administration conject of the presidency in 1876. The question for Presidency in 1876. The question for President Harrison to decide is simply whether he will be the means of gratifying the personal animosity of others against the Secretary of State. So far as secretary of State. So far as secretary of State. Secretary of State. So far as Mr. Tucker is concerned the country, of course, will not care a button for the decaying rubbish brought to light decaying rubbish brought to light about him. The position for which he has been named was tendered him two weeks since, not only without any soticitation on his part, but the tender was an absolute surprise to him.

Washington, D. C., May 29.—There was a conference of one hundred anti-Mahone Republicans, of Virginia, at the Ebbit house last evening for the purpose of devising some concerted plan of action by which Gen. Mahone's influence on securing appointments may be overthrown. The conference was called by Gen. Groner, ex-Governor Cameron and Congressman Brady. There was a good deal of bitter talk about the way in which Gen. Mahone treated applications for office sent to him. A further conference will be held this morning.

The man scated on the left (the horse was a facing north) jumped from his seat hastily and ran up the steps. He carried two packages. Before he had time to knock at the door it was opened, it is appearing to me that someone was waiting inside the hallway. At the instant the man stepped inside the door the man in the buggy whipped up and drove rapidly north to First street, when he turned west and was lost to sight. I had been driving past the cottage when I saw the man in the buggy get out and run up the steps and the buggy drive away. After attending to my business at a grocery nearby, I returned over the same road past the cottage on my way home. This was thirty-five minutes later. I saw a light in the cottage and heard a hammering or smashing sound."

It was plainly evident from the above testimony that the man who ran so rapidly up the stairway was Dr. Cronin, intent only to rendering succor to some dying man.

I wanted a reliable tenant. Seeing the man had talked with Sullivan I stepped over and spoke of his gueer conduct in not living in the house he had rented, and added that I felt somewhat anxious about my rent and the permanency of the tenant. The parade announced for this afternoon is not a part of the G. A. Mr. Joseph Biggar, member of Parlia-ment for West Cavan, that he had been Fenian Brotherhood, but had been expelled in 1877 for advocating constitutional action. He joined the Land League in 1870. He declared that the meaning of the speech he had made at Cork in the spring of 1880, in which he referred to the anarchist, Hartman, as having imitators in Ireland, had been misunderstood. As a fact, he had only warned the supporters of whiggish candidates that the disgust of the people was likely to result in the use of dynamite. In a subsequent speech at Castletown he had advised the people to take care that the land they occupied should be of no value to land grabbers. He had further said that it was no part of the League's duty to recommend the shooting of landlords, but it was its duty to defend anybody charged with shooting landlords or their agents. He had said this because no confidence was placed in the administration of the law, and he had held that the League ought to defend prisoners whose crimes were the outcome of bad laws. He and Patrick Egan were, trustees of the funds of the League. He could not associate either Egan or Sheridan with outrages.

Mr. Biggar said he had contributed nothing to the Fenian funds. His object in joining the Brotherhood was to obtain its assistance in Parliamentary elections. Sir Henry James, for the Times, cross-examined Mr. Biggar. Witness said he never took part in the work of the League's treasurer. He never drew a check or saw a bank note. He was naturally indolent and left the work to others. He did not know where the record of the money dealings of the League was kept, nor did he even know why he had been associated with Egan as treasurer. Just before the suppression of the Land League most of the books were removed.

Thirty-two books had been handed to Mr. Seames, solicitor for the Times. Fenian Brotherhood, but had been expelled in 1877 for advocating constitupression of the Land League most of the books were removed.

Thirty-two books had been handed to Mr. Seames, solicitor for the Times. Presiding Judge Hannen remarked that this was the first time he heard about these books. Sir Henry James said that it was a mistake; there were no such books in Mr. Seames possession. Mr. Biggar said that all the important books of the League had been removed to England. They were very bulky. He did not know that any of the books had been destroyed. He had not the slightest notion of what had become of the missing documents.

the houses of the leaders of the miners' strike at Dortmund to-day and seized a strike at Dortmuna to-day and seized a number of letters and a considerable amount of money. The men whose homes were invaded are accused of being Socialist agitators. The editor of the Westphalia Popies Gazette has been arrested on the charge of instigating the strikes in the mining regions.

Points About the River.

The river was on a standstill nearly all day yesterday, the levee gauge at duak last evening showing of feet 6 inches, which was a fall of only one inch from what was shown the night before. Yesterday's arrivals were the W. N. Chancellor from Cincinnati to Pittaburgh at a. m., the Lizzie Bay from Pittaburgh at to Charleston at 5a. m. and the Ben Hur from and to Parkersburg at 11:30 a. m. and the C. W. Batchelor will leave for Pittaburgh at 7:30 a. m. The Scotia will pass up at an early hour this morning and the Hudson will pass down, also at an early hour the Charles Stone, the new forry-boat that has been built by the Sweeneys, of this city, for the Stone Bros., of Point Pleas of the Lizzie Bay, is on the sick list, and the boat is in command during his illness of Capt. J. F. Rusk, of Charleston.
